

The Long View

A NOTE FROM OUR FOUNDERS

Having been in this industry for over 50 years, we are often asked for our opinion on the housing outlook in Arizona. Camelot Homes has experienced and adapted to every kind of market cycle and economic condition (including a pandemic!), and we're still here. Why? Because we see the long view, and Arizona's long view is always sunny!

As we see it, growth and price appreciation will most likely slow to normal and sustainable levels over the near term as we get inflation under control and that is a necessary but temporary situation. In the longer term, Arizona remains one of the best places to live and invest, as evidenced by the steady stream of companies relocating here and families and individuals who continue to move to our state for the outstanding lifestyle and abundant economic opportunities. With our weather, our job market, our infrastructure, our sporting and entertainment venues, our cultural events, our beautiful parks and communities and more, it is no wonder that Arizona is one of the greatest places to live.

Because we believe in and are committed to our hometown, we are in the process of opening five exciting new communities this coming year alone. We will be offering new single family rental communities, luxury patio homes and condominiums, and our exclusive high end semi-custom and custom homes. Camelot Homes is embracing the future and will continue to grow and invest in Arizona for the long term, and so should you!

Our Farewell TO TOM KIRK

On June 10th, the Camelot family collectively waved farewell to Tom Kirk as he rode off into the sunset to officially launch his retirement by crossing off a major bucket-list item - a larger than life Alaskan adventure.

After more than 19 years of selflessly leading Camelot on both the operational and financial fronts, Tom is taking time to experience the final frontier. Tom and his wife, Chris, have joined an Airstream caravan on a four-month long trek to take in the immense natural beauty, history, and culture of the expansive Alaskan wilderness.

Their journey will travel the length of the Alaska Highway.

They started at milepost 0 in Dawson Creek and will travel through the Yukon Territory, Skagway, Eagle, and all the way to Fairbanks, Denali, and Anchorage. On their trip they will pan for gold, take river and boat cruises, experience world-class fishing and hiking, dine on salmon bakes, visit glaciers, and ride the scenic Alaska railroad. All of that is in addition to the endless wildlife they are sure to encounter such as humpback whales, salmon runs, eagles, bears, moose, and more. This majestic journey will end in Prince George, British Columbia as summer turns to fall with colorful foliage and views of mountains dusted with snow.

Words cannot express how deeply Tom's legacy is interwoven with the greater Camelot story. His commitment, humility, and drive were not only integral in building the Camelot we know today; they've paved the way for a bright future that will thrive even in his absence. They say the mark of a good leader is that people are made better by their presence in such a way that lasts in their absence. Tom is a perfect example of just how true that is. We have all been made and left better by Tom's presence and will miss him greatly.

Tom,
 We are truly grateful for everything you have brought to us and wish you and your family a bountiful retirement full of grand adventures and breathtaking experiences.
